

STATE TWO TYPES OF COMPUTER OUTPUT DEVICES

Computer output devices are classified as:-

a) Softcopy output devices

Softcopy output devices are devices that produce an output that is intangible i.e. it cannot be touched or felt. Such devices include:

- i. Monitor
- ii. Light emitting diode (LED)
- iii. Speakers

b) Hardcopy output devices

Hard copy output devices are devices that produce an output that is tangible such as a piece of paper or cloth. These devices include:-

- i. Plotters
- ii. Printers
- iii. Com (microfilm)

Expected responses according to the question

Plotters, printers, microfilm, monitor/screen/VDU, LED, speakers